DETAILED ACTION

Summary

On February 13, 2006, an Office Action was sent to the Applicant rejecting claims 1-153. On May 15, 2006, the Applicant responded by amending claims 1, 53, 77, and 153.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-153 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Virgin (6,826,542) in view of Zervides (6,052,674).

Virgin discloses the invention substantially as claimed (as set forth in the previous Office Action); however, Virgin does not disclose a payment engine for electronically transmitting invoice payment instructions from the customer to each invoicer. Zervides teaches an electronic invoicing and collection system and corresponding method for both invoicing and collecting payments comprising a payment engine for electronically transmitting invoice payment instructions from the customer to each invoicer (col.4, lines 18-65 and col.5, line 59 to col.6, line 12—customer submits payment to the EICS, which is in charge of all invoices of suppliers). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate a payment engine for electronically transmitting invoice payment instructions from the customer to each invoicer, as taught by Zervides into the invention disclosed by Virgin, to allow the customer an alternative means of making payments.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-153 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
